TUESDAY NOTES

February 9, 2010

PRINCIPAL'S PAGE

Dear Parents and Families,

Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. 1 Corinthians 13:4-7

Happy Valentine's Day, Everyone! What a good time to remember how very important love is in our lives. And this verse is the consummate love verse; teaching us about the true nature of love, which is very different than what we are inundated with in movies and on TV. So, go out and get busy with your true loving! ☺

Housekeeping News:

1. Our Mad Science Assembly was today. Ask your child about it and see if it's something you would like them to continue with our after school Mad Science program which starts on Monday, Feb. 22nd. Flyers with registration information went home last week, but there are copies in the office if you need one. The program is very hands-on and is a fun way to learn about science!
2. Speech Screening for grades K-4 took place last Friday. If you received a Speech Referral Form, please seriously consider getting your children the speech therapy they need. It's not just for communicating; it's for language skills as a whole. Information about Mrs. Cardoza's on-campus speech therapy services (at reduced rates for Loving Savior students) is in the school office.
3. Change your School Calendars:
